About Åland

Åland is a home-ruled, demilitarized and Swedish-speaking territory belonging to Finland. The autonomy originating from 1922 grants Åland legislative power in several areas. The popularly elected Legislative Assembly of Åland (Lagtinget) appoints the Government of Åland (Landskapsregeringen), which holds the executive power.

The competence areas of the Government of Åland are health and medical care, upper secondary and tertiary education, trade and industry, local road and ferry traffic, the police, the postal service, radio and television as well as culture and museums.

There are 16 municipalities in Åland and 6 of these are situated in the archipelago. The municipal sector is responsible for areas such as comprehensive school, child care and elderly care.

Over the last decades, Åland has developed into a service economy. Concurrently, the population has increased and the contribution of immigrants expanded.

Åland has its own flag since 1954 and stamps of its own since 1984. Starting in 1970, Åland is represented in the Nordic Council and participates in the work of the Nordic Council of Ministers. Åland joined the European Union in 1995, but remains outside the EU tax union.

The statistical information in Åland in figures is mainly from the Statistical Yearbook of Åland, which is produced annually by Statistics and Research Åland (ÅSUB).

ÅSUB's main tasks are to function as the official statistics authority of the Åland Islands and to conduct research and surveys. ÅSUB produces statistics in several subject areas including population, public finance, manufacturing, education, social welfare, health and medical care, environment and elections. All statistics as well as all reports and other information published by ÅSUB are available on the web site www.asub.ax.
